History

The books reissued in this series include accounts of historical events and movements by eye-witnesses and contemporaries, as well as landmark studies that assembled significant source materials or developed new historiographical methods. The series includes work in social, political and military history on a wide range of periods and regions, giving modern scholars ready access to influential publications of the past.

History and Ethnography of Africa South of the Zambesi

George McCall Theal (1837–1919) was a prolific South African historian and civil servant. After working as a missionary between 1875–1880 he was appointed magistrate of Tamacha before taking a position as a clerk in the government and became Keeper of the Cape Colony Archives. He was appointed Colonial Historiographer in 1891. These volumes, first published in 1907, contain Theal’s detailed history of South Africa between 1505–1795. Theal discusses the formation of the colony from the first Portuguese conquests, exploring the Dutch colonial establishment and administration. Theal also describes the societies of the various indigenous peoples of South Africa and their relations with the colonists. These volumes provide valuable details on the administration of the Dutch colony, and reveal contemporary attitudes to the ideas of history and colonisation. These volumes are reissued from the expanded 1910 edition. Volume 3 covers the years 1745–1795.
Cambridge University Press has long been a pioneer in the reissuing of out-of-print titles from its own backlist, producing digital reprints of books that are still sought after by scholars and students but could not be reprinted economically using traditional technology. The Cambridge Library Collection extends this activity to a wider range of books which are still of importance to researchers and professionals, either for the source material they contain, or as landmarks in the history of their academic discipline.

Drawing from the world-renowned collections in the Cambridge University Library, and guided by the advice of experts in each subject area, Cambridge University Press is using state-of-the-art scanning machines in its own Printing House to capture the content of each book selected for inclusion. The files are processed to give a consistently clear, crisp image, and the books finished to the high quality standard for which the Press is recognised around the world. The latest print-on-demand technology ensures that the books will remain available indefinitely, and that orders for single or multiple copies can quickly be supplied.

The Cambridge Library Collection will bring back to life books of enduring scholarly value (including out-of-copyright works originally issued by other publishers) across a wide range of disciplines in the humanities and social sciences and in science and technology.
History and Ethnography of Africa South of the Zambesi

1505 – 1795

Volume 3:
The Cape Colony to 1795,
the Koranas, Bantu, and Portuguese
in South Africa to 1800

George McCall Theal
HISTORY AND ETHNOGRAPHY
OF
AFRICA SOUTH OF THE ZAMBESE

Vol. III.
HISTORY AND ETHNOGRAPHY
OF
AFRICA SOUTH OF THE ZAMBESI

FROM THE SETTLEMENT OF THE PORTUGUESE AT SOFALA IN SEPTEMBER 1505 TO THE CONQUEST OF THE CAPE COLONY BY THE BRITISH IN SEPTEMBER 1795,

BY GEORGE MCCALL THEAL, LITT.D., LL.D.
FOREIGN MEMBER OF THE ROYAL ACADEMY OF SCIENCES, AMSTERDAM, CORRESPONDING MEMBER OF THE ROYAL HISTORICAL SOCIETY, LONDON, ETC., ETC., ETC.,
FORMERLY KEEPER OF THE ARCHIVES OF THE CAPE COLONY, AND AT PRESENT COLONIAL HISTORIOGRAPHER

IN THREE VOLUMES
WITH MAPS AND PLATES

VOL. III.
THE CAPE COLONY TO 1795, THE KORANAS, BANTU, AND PORTUGUESE IN SOUTH AFRICA TO 1800

LONDON
SWAN SONNENSCHIN & CO., LIM.
25 High Street, Bloomsbury
1910
All rights reserved
CONTENTS.

CHAPTER XLIV.

HENDRIK SWELLENGREBEL, GOVERNOR, (continued).

Agreement with the burghers concerning the purchase by the Company of wine, peas, and beans.—Perquisites allowed to the officers of government.—New system of land tenure.—Formation of the district of Swellendam.—Price of wheat.—Condition of the farmers.—Powers and duties of the boards of landdrost and heemraden.—Construction of fortifications in Table Valley.—Supposed discovery of a silver mine at Drakenstein.—Proceedings of a mining association.—Shipping statistics.—English services in the Dutch reformed church at the Cape.—Wrecks on the coast.—The seasons.—Exports of the colony.—Intercourse between colonists and Bushmen.—Extent of the European settlement.—Shocks of earthquake.—Appointment of the stadtholder to be chief director and governor-general of the East India Company.—Rejoicings at the Cape.—Retirement of Governor Swellengrebel.—Appointment of the secunde Ryk Tulbagh as governor.—Departure of Mr. Swellengrebel for Europe.—His death at Utrecht.—Names of the principal persons who settled in the colony between 1725 and 1750.

CHAPTER XLV.

RYK TULBAGH, GOVERNOR, ASSUMED OFFICE 27TH FEBRUARY 1751,
DIED 11TH AUGUST 1771.

Early life of Ryk Tulbagh.—His arrival in South Africa.—Various offices filled by him.—His character and conduct.—Corruption in the Company's service.—Suppression by the governor of fraudulent practices.—Tax in aid of the Netherlands.—Work of the astronomer De la Caille in South Africa.—Commemoration of the first century of the colony’s existence.—Character of legislation in the middle of the eighteenth century.—Particulars concerning the slave code.—Horrors of the slave trade.—Introduction of new sumptuary laws.—Etiquette of salutes.—Compulsory education.—Proposed new taxes.—Experiments in agriculture.—Second outbreak of small pox in the colony.—Great loss of life.—Effect upon the value of property.—Necessity for a new churchyard in Capetown.—Census returns.—Leprosy in South Africa.—Particulars concerning the wine trade.—Revenue and expenditure of the colony.—Trade with foreigners ... ... Page 23
Contents

CHAPTER XLVI.

RVK TULEBAGH, GOVERNOR, (continued).

Establishment of a public library by bequest of Mr. Van Dessin.—Visit of English astronomers to the Cape.—Treatment of English visitors.—Exploration of Great Namaqualand.—Shock of earthquake.—Third outbreak of small pox.—Improvements in Capetown, Simonstown, Stellenbosch, and Swellendam.—Dealings with the Hottentots and Bushmen.—Boundaries of districts and of the colony.—Death of Governor Tulbagh.—Changes in the official staff.—Arrangements made by the council for carrying on the government.—Names of new colonists. ... ... ... ... Page 44

CHAPTER XLVII.

HISTORY OF THE XOSA TRIBE.

Condition of the Bantu south of Natal at the close of the sixteenth century.—Line of the paramount Xosa chiefs since the formation of the tribe.—Traditions concerning Tshawe and of a golden age.—Account of the Bantu between the Kei and Umzimvubu rivers given in 1622 by an officer of the wrecked Portuguese ship S. João Baptista.—Territory occupied by the tribe in the time of Togu.—Westward migration of the tribe.—Origin of the Imidange and Amantinde clans.—Incorporation of the Damaqua tribe of Hottentots in the Amantinde clan.—Flight of numerous Xosas accused of practising witchcraft.—Protection given to them by the Gonaqua tribe of Hottentots.—Origin of the Gunukwebe clan.—Origin of the
Contents

Amagwali clan.—Migration of several clans to the territory west of the Kei.—Origin of the Amambala clan.—Strife between Gcaleka and Rarabe, sons of the paramount chief Palo.—Removal of the whole Xosa tribe to the territory west of the Kei.—Narrative of an exploring expedition that passed through the Xosa country in 1752.—Adventures of Rarabe.—Descendants of Rarabe.—Descendants of Gcaleka.—Return of the Amagcaleka branch of the tribe to the territory between the Kei and Bashee rivers.—Position of the various clans in 1775.—Genealogical table of the leading chiefs.

... ... ... ... Page 64

CHAPTER XLVIII.

JOACHIM VAN PLETENBERG, FISCAL AND SECUNDE, ACTING GOVERNOR,
12TH AUGUST 1771 TO 18TH MAY 1774; GOVERNOR, INSTALLED
18TH MAY 1774, RETIRED 14TH FEBRUARY 1785.

Appointment of the baron Van Oudshoorn as governor.—Death of that gentleman on the passage out.—Appointment of Mr. Van Plettenberg as governor, Mr. Hemmy as secunde, and Advocate Boers as fiscal.—Extension of the colony eastward.—Erection of a new hospital.—Exportation of Cape produce to the Netherlands and to India.—Statistics of shipping.—Trade with foreigners.—Regulations regarding half-breed children born on farms.—Petition of frontier colonists for a landdrost's court and a church.—Visit of the governor to the eastern frontier.—Meeting and arrangement with Xosa chiefs.—Naming of Plettenberg's Bay.—Naming of the Orange river by Captain Gordon.—Extension of jurisdiction of the country courts.—Declaration of the Fish river as the eastern boundary of the colony.—Discovery of the Cango caverns.—Character of the administration of Governor Van Plettenberg.—Sending of a deputation by the colonists to the Netherlands to complain of the corruption and tyranny of the government.—Action of the directors.—Defence of the Cape officials.

... ... ... ... ... Page 95

CHAPTER XLIX.

JOACHIM VAN PLETENBERG, GOVERNOR, (continued);

War between England and the Netherlands.—Defenceless state of the colony.—Constant warfare with Bushmen.—The first Kaffir
Contents

war.— Assistance given to the government by the burghers.— Despatch of several homeward bound ships to Saldanha Bay to be out of danger.— Expedition under Commodore Johnstone sent from England to seize the colony.— Expedition under Acting Commodore Suffren sent from France to oppose the English.— Naval battle at Porto Praya.— Arrival of the French fleet and troops at the Cape.— Seizure by Commodore Johnstone of the Dutch ships in Saldanha Bay.— Issue of paper money. — Composition of the garrison at the Cape. ... Page 123

CHAPTER L.

JOACHIM VAN PLETTEMBERG, GOVERNOR, (continued).

Resignation of the fiscal Boers.— Decision of the directors regarding the complaints of the colonists.— Appeal of the colonists to the states-general of the Netherlands.— Changes in the administration.— Great damage sustained by the Company in the war with England.— Increase of foreign shipping at the Cape.— Distinguished visitors.— Wrecks on the South African coast. — Succession of clergymen in the various churches.— Permission obtained by the Lutherans to establish a church in Capetown.— Succession of officers in the country districts. Page 145

CHAPTER LI.

CORNELIS JACOB VAN DE GRAAFF, GOVERNOR, INSTALLED 14TH FEBRUARY 1785, LEFT SOUTH AFRICA 24TH JUNE 1791.

Character of the new governor.— Decision of the directors concerning the complaints of the colonists.— Changes in the administration at the Cape.— Opening of Mossel and Plettenberg's bays.— Erection of fortifications in Table Valley.— Formation of the district of Graaff-Reinet.— Establishment of a church at Graaff-Reinet.— Pursuits of the frontier farmers.— Struggle with Bushmen.— Invasion of the colony by Xosa clans.— Measures of defence adopted by the colonists. — Humiliating arrangement made by the government. — Grievances of the frontier colonists.— Condition of the colonists.— Reckless waste of the Company's effects by the governor.— Insolvency of the East India Company.— Very extensive retrenchment.— Quarrels among the principal
Contents

Officers of government.—Political changes in the Netherlands.
—Recall of Governor Van de Graaff.—Flight of the fiscal Van Lynden.—Condition of the fortifications in Table Valley.
—Cost of the new hospital.—Census returns of 1791. Page 168

CHAPTER LII.

Johan Isaac Rhenius, Secunde, Acting Governor, 24th June 1791
To 3rd July 1792.

Sebastiaan Cornelis Nederburgh and Simon Hendrik Frykenius,
Commissioners-General, 3rd July 1792 to 2nd September 1793.

Opening of commerce in European wares to private individuals.—Exploration of Great Namaqualand.—First authentic information concerning the inhabitants of the northern part of that region.—Statistics of shipping.—Wrecks on the coast.—Desire for the establishment of better schools in the colony.—Investigation of the East India Company’s affaires by the states-general of the Netherlands.—Appointment of a board with very extensive powers to carry out reforms and suppress abuses.—Instructions concerning the Cape Colony given to Messrs. Nederburgh and Frykenius, two members of this board.—Arrival of Messrs. Nederburgh and Frykenius at the Cape, and their assumption of the government as commissioners-general.—Discontent of theburghers.—
Struggle of the burgher councillors for the maintenance of their privileges.—Addresses by the commissioners-general.—
Reduction of public expenditure.—Additional taxes.—Resistance of the colonists to the imposition of stamp duty on auction accounts.—Amount of revenue and expenditure.—Price of wheat.—Liberty granted to the colonists to export produce to the Netherlands and India, and to carry on whale fishing under certain restrictions.—Prohibition of trade with foreigners.
—Effects of these measures.—Establishment of a loan bank, and further issue of paper money.—Proposed overland expedition to Great Namaqualand in search of gold mines.—
Expedition by sea.—Possession on behalf of the East India Company taken of Thomson’s Island, Angra Pequena, and Walvis Bay.—Account of the inhabitants of the coast at those places.—Exploration of the country east of Walvis Bay.

Page 192
Contents

CHAPTER LIII.

SEBASTIAAN CORNELIS NEDERBURGH AND SIMON HENDRIK FRYKENIUS, COMMISSIONERS-GENERAL,—(continued).

Continuation of the war with the Bushmen.—Conduct of the Namaqua captain Afrikaner.—Dismissal of the landdrost Woeke, and appointment of Honoratus Maynier as his successor. Unpopularity of Mr. Maynier.—Condition of the western Xosa clans.—The second Kaffir war.—Humiliating terms of peace.—Partial report of Mr. Maynier upon the causes of the war.—Fear of an insurrection of Hottentots in Swellendam.—Arrest and confinement of the Hottentot captain Kees.—Efforts made by several colonists to improve the breed of cattle in the colony.—Establishment of a mission to the Hottentots by the Moravian Society.—Appointment of wardmasters in Capetown.—Promotion of various officers.—Changes in the staff of clergymen.—Declaration of war between France and the Netherlands.—Stagnation of trade at the Cape.—Formation of a pennist corps and pandour company.—Appointment and installation of Abraham Josias Sluysken as commissioner-general and head of the Cape government. ... ... ... ... Page 212

CHAPTER LIV.

ABRAHAM JOSIAS SLUYSKEN, COMMISSIONER-GENERAL, FROM 2ND SEPTEMBER 1793 TO 16TH SEPTEMBER 1795.

Insolvency of the East India Company.—Condition of the Cape Colony.—Erection of forts at Simonstown and round Hout Bay.—Misrepresentations by the landdrost Maynier.—Expulsion of Maynier by theburghers of Graaff-Reinet.—Proceedings of a commission sent to Graaff-Reinet.—Establishment by theburghers of a practically independent government at Graaff-Reinet.—Similar proceedings at Swellendam.—Character and force of the garrison at the Cape. Negotiations between the British government and the stadtholder.—Condition of the Netherlands.—Departure of a Dutch merchant fleet from Simon's Bay.—Capture of eight of the ships off the island of St. Helena.—Arrival in Simon's Bay of an English fleet of war and an army.—Invitation to place the colony under the authority of the British government.—Negotiations between the British officers and the Cape government.—Rejection by the Cape government and people of the proposal of the British officers. ... ... ... ... Page 237
Contents

CHAPTER LV.

ABRAHAM JOSIAS SLUYSKEN, COMMISSIONER-GENERAL,—(continued).

Proceedings of the people of Swellendam.—Strength of theburghers in the field.—Occupation of Simonstown by British forces.—Defeat of the Dutch forces at Muizenburg and occupation of that post by Major-General Craig.—Charges against Lieutenant-Colonel De Lille.—Arrival of British reinforcements from St. Helena.—Renewal of negotiations.—Refusal of the government and of theburghers to surrender the colony.—Conduct of the pandours.—Arrival of large British reinforcements under Major-General Clarke.—Advance of a strong British army towards Capetown.—Slight and ineffectual opposition made by the Dutch forces and the colonists.—Surrender of the colony to the British forces.—Terms of the capitulation.—Defence of his conduct by Commissioner Sluysken in Holland.—His acquittal of blame by the National Assembly.—Suicide of Colonel Gordon. ... Page 258

CHAPTER LVI.

CONDITION OF THE EUROPEANS IN THE CAPE COLONY AT THE TIME OF THE ENGLISH CONQUEST.

Names of new colonists.—Analysis of the various nationalities to which the original colonists belonged.—Causes of severance of interest with affairs in Europe.—Growth of a distinct dialect of the Dutch language.—Position of women in the community.—Methods of regulating property as between husband and wife.—Operation of the laws of inheritance.—Fruitless efforts of the government to prevent the expansion of the colony.—Pursuits of the colonists.—Description of salt pans.—Prohibition of fishing except in Table, False, and Saldanha bays.—Importance of the fishing industry in Table Bay.—Manufacture of waggons.—Trifling other manufactures in the colony. ... ... ... ... Page 278
CHAPTER LVII.

Mode of living in Capetown.—Plan of the town.—Mode of living of the corn and wine farmers.—Mode of living of the graziers.—Cause of taciturnity in presence of strangers.—Effect of absence of mercantile establishments in the interior.—Superstitions of the people of the interior.—Recreations of the colonists.—Number of European colonists in 1795.—Opinions with regard to the coloured inhabitants.—Number and date of formation of the various congregations and churches.—Introduction of advanced evangelical ideas in the Dutch reformed church.—Introduction of the hymns at present in use.—Labours of the reverend Helperus Ritzema van Lier and of the reverend Michiel Christiaan Vos.—Effect of the introduction of new ideas.—Extent of exploration.—Effect of European colonisation upon the Bushmen and Hottentots.—End of the Dutch East India Company ...

Page 297

CHAPTER LVIII.

EVENTS IN PORTUGUESE SOUTH AFRICA DURING THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY.

Condition of the Portuguese government at home.—Ability of the marquis of Pombal.—Perpetual wars among the Bantu.—Instances of wars between the Portuguese and the Bantu.—Attempt to support the monomotapa.—Events connected with the friar Constantino do Rosario, son of the monomotapa.—Influx of Bantu from the territory north of the Zambesi.—Corruption in commercial affairs.—Reasons of the court at Lisbon for trying to preserve the African trade.—Trade with foreigners at Mozambique.—Change in the character of the commerce.—Description of Inhambane in 1771.—Introduction of municipal government.—Treatment of the Mohamedans.—Decline of the Dominican order.—Number of missionaries in the country.—Expulsion of the Jesuits from the Portuguese dominions.—Suppression of the Company of Jesus.—Withdrawal of the Dominicans from South-Eastern Africa.—Establishment of secular priests in the country.—Extinction of Christianity among the Bantu.—Number of professing Christians in the country at the beginning of the nineteenth century.—Failure of an attempt to introduce colonists from India.—Neglect of Delagoa Bay.—Attempt of an Austrian Company to occupy Delagoa Bay.—Erection of a fort at Lourenço Marques by the Portuguese.—Destruction of the fort by the French.—Use made of Delagoa Bay by English and American whaling ships.—Condition of the country at the close of the eighteenth century.—Exploration of the territory to the westward. Page 316
Contents

CHAPTER LIX.

HISTORY OF THE KORANA CLANS AND THE BETSHUANA TRIBES DURING THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY.

Migration of Hottentots from the neighbourhood of the Cape peninsula to the great interior plain.—Division of these Koranas into numerous clans.—Migration of some of them into the territory north of the Orange.—Account of Jan Bloem, chief of the Springbok clan.—Farthest advance of the Betshuana southward.—Account of the Barolong tribe.—Character of the chief Tao.—Account of the Bataung tribe.—Occupation of territory south of the Vaal river by this tribe.—Account of the Batlapin tribe.—Description of the Bakwena.—Treacherous conduct of Tao towards a Korana clan.—Commencement of the long wars between the Koranas and the Betshuana.—Death of Tao and division of the Barolong tribe.—Atrocious conduct of the Koranas.—Account of Adam and Cornelis Kok.—Protection of the Batlapin by Cornelis Kok.—Account of Makaba, chief of the Bangwaketse.—Checking of Korana depredations by Makaba.—Separation of the Abambo horde into numerous tribes.—Migration to the west of the Kathlamba of refugees from the Abambo tribes.—Account of the Baputi and the Basia.—Account of the Bakwena tribes that settled along the upper Caledon. Page 337

NOTES ON BOOKS ... ... ... ... ... Page 363

MAPS.

8. Map of the Cape Colony in 1750. ... To face page 22
9. Map of the Cape peninsula. ... ... " " 271
10. Map of the Cape Colony in 1795. ... ... " " 277

INDEX ... ... ... ... ... ... Page 407